

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ATLANTA, GA (January, 2014) – Commerce Science Corporation (CSC), a leading Software as a Service (SaaS) provider of eCommerce technology, is pleased to announce the signing of an agreement with Commerce Cliques, LLC.

Robert E. Helmer, CEO of Commerce Science Corporation, announced on April 7, 2014 that the two companies have agreed to establish an Internet based platform hosting a virtually unlimited number of web stores connected to vendors from around the world offering an extensive product mix to groups, associations and non-profits as a way to raise additional funding.

Gordon Owens, (Partner) of Commerce Cliques, LLC, stated, “We help organizations raise additional funds through eCommerce by sharing a portion of the proceeds from each sales transaction back with the association. Many of our clients also need individualized eStore inventories to better suit certain geographical areas or member groups. The CSC platform allows us to create multiple eStores for each client, with each store-front displaying a unique look and feel as well as customized product offerings to sync with specific group demographics.”

Mr. Owens continued, “We looked at many other platforms, but only Commerce Science allowed us to manage all of our differentiated client stores on one cohesive, intuitive and easily managed platform. The member organizations generate much needed fundraising revenues without the hassles of stocking inventory, or processing and fulfilling orders, and Commerce Cliques enjoys centralized controls and simplified management over display content, inventories, taxes, shipping, and much more. It’s the perfect fit to most effectively reach our combined business objectives.”
