

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Commerce Science Announces New Board Member

ATLANTA — July, 2013 — Commerce Science Corporation, a leading provider of Internet-based eCommerce solutions, is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Eric McCarthy to the Board of Directors.

“We are pleased to welcome Jim to our Board of Directors” stated Robert Helmer, CEO of Commerce Science Corporation. “Eric has tremendous experience with national and international firms based on his tenure with Coca Cola and is currently managing partner of Crestlight Venture and Production, a Silicon Valley firm specializing in lean equity for startups. I am grateful that Eric has agreed to join the company; he will be a great asset to the management team.”

“I am excited to join Commerce Science during a time that eCommerce is expanding worldwide,” stated Mr. McCarthy. “The new direction of the company creates opportunities to grow the business in many industries.”

About Commerce Science Corporation — www.commercescience.com

Commerce Science Corporation is a leading provider of Internet-based eCommerce solutions. Utilizing eStoreXpress, its flagship solution, an unlimited number of online eStores are connected to unlimited vendors in a seamless online shopping experience.

Recognized as one of the top ten most innovative companies in Georgia, Commerce Science and its award-winning eStoreXpress have been delivering eCommerce solutions to clients in various markets including associations, distributors and franchises.

For more information contact Commerce Science Corporation.

Phone: 404-320-6900. Email: info@Commercescience.com. Or, visit www.commercescience.com.